EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a fax from Manabu Kanesaka on 12 May 2005.

The application has been amended as follows:

1. (currently amended) A connector for fastening a member with an attaching hole, comprising: a female part having a head portion, a leg portion connected to the head portion, an inner space formed in the leg portion and opened at the head portion, and an engaging projection formed as a tab on an outer surface of the leg portion by a surrounding cutout portion, said engaging projection having a first strength to elastically bend inwardly to engage the attaching hole when the leg portion is inserted into the attaching hole, and a male part having a pressing head portion, an inserting leg connected to the pressing head portion to be inserted into the inner space of the female part, a first engaging portion formed on an outer surface of the inserting leg at forward end thereof for engaging an inner wall of the female part so that the male part is temporarily fixed to the female part at a temporary engaging state, [[and]] a second engaging portion including a projection on the outer surface of the inserting leg at a base end thereof to project outwardly therefrom, and an empty space for allowing the projection of the second engaging portion to bend elastically inwardly, said second engaging portion, when the male part is completely inserted into the female part from the temporary engaging state to a complete engaging state, being [[disposed in]] inwardly bent and elastically engaged with the inner wall of the female part to permanently fix the connector to the attaching hole, said second engaging portion having a second strength greater than the first strength so that when male part in the temporary engaging state with the female part is pushed to engage said member, the engaging projection with the first strength is deformed first to engage said member and then the second engaging portion bends and enters the inner space, wherein said inserting leg flushly abuts the engaging projection of the female part to prevent the engaging projection from bending inwardly in the complete engaging state, and [[said leg portion of the female part includes a cutout portion to form the engaging projection,]] said first engaging portion [[being]] is located in the cutout portion in both the temporary and complete engaging states.

2. (currently amended) A connector as claimed in claim 1, wherein said inserting leg has a length so that in the temporary engaging state, the inserting leg is located above the engaging projection to allow the engaging projection to bend inwardly~~[[, and~~ when the male part is completely inserted into the female part, the inserting leg is located flushly adjacent to the engaging projection of the female part to prevent the engaging projection from bending inwardly]].

5. (cancelled)

Art Unit: 3677

8. (cancelled)

9. (cancelled)

10 (new) A connector as claimed in claim 1, wherein said female part further includes a rib on the leg portion to project outwardly therefrom, said second engaging portion being located radially adjacent to the rib in the complete engaging state with the leg portion interposed therebetween.

11. (new) A connector as claimed in claim 10, wherein said male part further includes a pair of grooves to sandwich the second engaging portion therebetween to allow the second engaging portion to easily bend inwardly.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

As amended by the examiner, claim 1 no longer lies within an anticipatory or obvious realm of the prior art. The engaging projection (20,22) taught by Meyer US-5,775,860 is not "formed as a tab" by a "surrounding cutout portion". Further, Morel US-4,276,806 teaches a first engaging portion (4) within a cutout portion (12) in both a temporary and complete engaging state. However, no combination of the prior art of record would fairly suggest the second engaging portion "inwardly bent and elastically engaged with the inner wall" and "prevent[ing] the engaging projection from bending inwardly in the complete engaging state".

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
